RBC EPIC Business Model Canvas Competition 2022

Certification and Agreement

By submitting an entry to the RBC EPIC Business Model Canvas Competition (“the Competition”), each Participant agrees to the following conditions:

Originality – Each Participant and their team members have contributed to the development of the concepts or ideas set forth in their submission and are the original work of the Participant. Participant is not under any agreement or restriction that prohibit them from disclosing or submitting such concepts or ideas to the Competition.

Compliance with the Eligibility Guidelines – Each Participant and their team members have reviewed the Competition’s eligibility guidelines in its entirety and agree to comply with the guidelines throughout the Competition.

Waivers and Releases – Each Participant consents and authorizes the Competition to use and revise, annotate, edit and otherwise alter the photographs, videos, audio recordings, and written recorded description of them. Each Participant understands and agrees that any views by the Competition committee, employees, consultants, judges, sponsors and volunteers are their own and are not necessarily of the Competition. Each Participant also agrees to release the Competition from any unwanted disclosure of any concepts or ideas shared as part of the Competition.

Final Decision – All decisions made by the Competition are final. Each Participant agrees to abide by all decisions made by the Competition.
